Dear Christopher,

We saw Jane's obituary in the "Guardian" last week.

Every now and again in life one comes across a very special type of person who makes an everlasting impression. Jane was such a person. One felt oneself to be a better and more fulfilled person just by knowing her, such was the aura of inspiration and magnetism which flowed from her.

Rosie and I, and of course our children Richard, Vinny and Emily, all look back with great affection to our visits to Edrom, the picnics in the garden, the "master classes" which we were privileged to witness, even the singing of "grace". The children remember with particular affection the courses, where they learned not just about music, but about so much more.

Without a word of exaggeration she was a very great lady, a person whom it was a privilege to have known. She will be sorely missed.

Rosie, the children and I all join in sending you, Lucy, Francis and Maeve, our sincerest condolences and sympathy.

With kind regards,

Yours aye,

Bill

Bill and Rosie Palmer, Richard, Vinny and Emily.
